SALLY CLARKSON is the author of more than 20 books published in multiple languages, including Own Your Life, The Lifegiving Table, The Lifegiving Home (with her daughter Sarah), Mom Heart Moments and Different (with her son Nathan).

Sally discovered a love for leadership training and mentoring while in college and pursued a job teaching and training women in Communist Eastern Europe upon graduation. She mentored and taught women internationally for seven years before marrying Clay Clarkson. Together they founded Whole Hearted Ministries to help train and inspire parents to raise and mentor great kids, based on Sally's years of experience mentoring and training leaders across Europe.

Sally chose to educate her children in a non-traditional way, tailoring learning to her children's abilities and interests and capacity to grow strong intellectually, spiritually and emotionally. She describes her personal philosophy of education – rooted in unconditional love and wonder-filled living – as well as her family's educational journey in the pages of her latest book Awaking Wonder: Opening Your Child's Heart to the Wonder of Learning (Bethany House).

Sally is the host of a popular podcast, At Home with Sally, with more than ten million downloads to date. Sally has inspired tens of thousands of women through Whole Heart Ministries, Mom Heart conferences, and her speaking opportunities worldwide.

Sally and Clay have lived at the foot of the Rocky Mountains for many years, while also moving and living internationally. Most recently, she lived in Oxford, England, where several of her children were studying.
