I first became a fan of Jesus Calling when someone in my family was reading it and gave me a copy. And then, my mom started giving them to various family members as Christmas gifts. So, I became a big fan. That was six or eight years ago.

The first thing I do each morning is get down on my knees and pray. I like to do this in my bathroom so I can look out my window, take in the blue skies, and connect with nature. It's really important to me to express gratitude for God's blessings and ask for health and happiness for my family. I keep the book Jesus Calling open on my bathroom counter at all times. It's a devotional filled with inspiring scriptures for every day of the year.

iconic entertainer

For those who have not encountered His own words, Jesus Calling offers an invitation. For those who have already encountered His words, Jesus Calling offers still more encouragement.

- Father James Martin
Jesuit priest and author

[My] first copy of Jesus Calling was gifted to me by my friend, Faith Hill, and it was the leather bound one, I still have it. And then, I think, I told Kristin Chenoweth about it. So she now has it, and it's so funny, because now that we have the app - the app is great too because it's with you everywhere - I will send quotes back and forth to my best friend, like, "Have you read Jesus Calling today? How about this quote?"

- Rita Wilson
actress, singer-songwriter, artist

Jesus Calling - It's just a short thing to read, doesn't take any time- but to start your day off like that-it's so encouraging; makes you feel good.

- Reba McEntire
iconic entertainer

I've had a Jesus Calling on my nightstand for several years... When I was going to Houston to moderate the Democratic presidential debate, I had taken pictures of the days that I would be away. There was no way that I was going to go to the debate without being prepared and reading from Jesus Calling every day.

- Linsey Davis
newscaster and author

I am so very thankful for invaluable tools and aids like Jesus Calling...I'm so excited about learning and spending time in His Word daily, and certainly the Jesus Calling devotional has been instrumental in that. It fulfills that which is in Scripture, which says to 'Seek Me early, seek God early before the day starts.'
